A Weekend to CELEBRATE & Promote Women in the Industry

The 2026 Women Surveyors Summit in San Diego brought together a record 220 women from across the surveying profession for several days of learning, networking, and inspiration with a strong focus on mentorship, workforce development, and emerging technology. The Summit provided valuable opportunities to share experiences, build connections, and support the next generation of surveyors. Thanks to the diversity in attendees, there was a strong sense of community that it fosters. It was both rewarding and inspire and personally inspiring to many. Find more info in a write-up from NSPS's Cara; also a YSN Member. Title Banner from the Event.

But wait there's more...

Now that you've reached the end, we'd like to ask for just a FEW more minutes of your time!! Please see this Survey!

Cara of NSPS is working on a thesis focusing on women in the surveying industry. Specifically, experiences, perceptions, and the future. Feel free to put just a first name when it asks, as Cara will be the only person seeing the responses, and no details linked to you or names will be shared unless given permission. Thank you for helping to get her the most complete data for her paper!
